SCHOOL BOND ISSUE MAY NOT REQUIRE MILL INCREASE FOR MANY TAXPAYERS

Much as been said and written that might frighten the average Warren area resident into believing that he is about to be burdened with a great debt so that a new high school may be built. Some great unknown is not going to give this school to us. We will pay for it with tax money, but we acknowledge that it is needed and we may be pleasantly surprised that the school in itself will not greatly add to our current financial load.

In Warren borough we doubt if the average home owner will pay more than an additional dollar per thousands of assessed valuation. There may be no increase at all for building purposes only.

The reason for this is very obvious, and it is misleading for the press not to play up this pleasant side of the financial picture instead of the continuously gloomy atmosphere it seems bent on creating. The reason, of course, is that Warren is about to complete its payments on the Jefferson school. This annual payment will run out about the time the payment on the new high school starts.

The rate of interest will determine how large these payments will be. But at the very worst we doubt if the annual cost will exceed the Jefferson payments by more than a mill, and probably not that much. This means that the actual construction of the new high school and the purchase of the land will not mean a great change, if any, in our taxes.

THERE WILL BE AN INCREASE
However, education will cost us more money in the future, no matter what building houses our children. We will need more teachers and the teachers will earn more money. Our population is growing and the cost of educating more people obviously will be greater.

There is one bright side to that growing population angle. Though it naturally costs more to educate 1200 young people than it does to teach 900, there also will be more parents paying taxes. The per capita cost is not apt to go up proportionally.

This increase in the cost of education is not something new. It has been moving upward for the past twenty years. In the 1939 to 1940 period Warren's cost per pupil was $85.21. This was 42 cents less than the state average. Ten years later it had increased to $182.67 per pupil, which was $21.94 less than the state average.

In 1955 the cost was $218.89 per pupil, and this was $45.30 less than the state average. Obviously our costs are rising, but we are not spending as much as other communities. How can this be?

One explanation may be found in the salary costs. Ours are $12.92 less than the state average. However, our average pay per teacher is a little higher. This suggests that we may not have enough teachers, and certainly we are about to be short of instructors with our estimated school population expanding from less than one thousand to better than twelve hundred in the next ten years.

SOME ARE NOT PULLING LOAD
There is another aspect of this tax problem in Warren borough that may be corrected when the current reassessing job is completed. Too many residents are not pulling their fair share of the tax load. Present assessments are a complete farce. Assessments on homes of equal value will vary from $1600 to $4,000 within a ward. This means that some are paying double the taxes of others!

When those low assessments are brought up to where they belong, the tax bill may level off, and the millage probably will change very little. If you are one of those who have been paying heavily the last few years, you may find that you will come up with better schools for less money. But if you have been getting away with a ridiculously low assessment, your bill will shoot upward no matter what is done or not done to improve the community.

And quite frankly, it should!

* Driving this point home very solidly are the comparative figures. Warren with school costs averaging a little less than the state average is accomplishing this with money obtained through millage against property which is assessed at almost half the value of the average community. Bring that up where it belongs and there will be dollars available from those who should be doing their share, and the millage actually may go down!

* In coming weeks we will discuss the estimated cost to the townships and the actual dollar cost of the building program.

ENGINEERS NOT ONLY NEED

The use of the word "engineer" every time our educational shortages are discussed in print or on the air is unfortunate. It is apt to be very misleading to the young man and women who are in the stage of making a decision concerning their future.

The need is for scientists, research scientists. This can lead into many fields other than engineering. Those who handle this subject in the press, on the radio, and on television should be driving home that point very solidly.

The obvious fact is that we never will catch Russia in the number of scientists. Their population is so much larger than ours that the percentages are against us. Even if we trained every student to be a scientist the law of averages would provide only so many good ones.

Our job is to screen out the qualified minds and to develop the best in the world. Not the most . . . the best! There is a big difference.

And one of the best steps we can take in this direction is to make certain that the young minds which learn a little more quickly than others are not held back, but are encouraged to move ahead in school and are offered courses commensurate with their potentialities.

A DIFFERENCE

With the Warren Music Boosters again out there doing an excellent job of helping the many boys and girls who want to take an active part in music while attending school, we are moved to wonder why it is so right for them to do this and so wrong for the same to be done for our sports program.

The Music Boosters buy equipment, pay for transportation, and defray the cost of summer training. But there is no group doing the same for the athletes, and the many who would like to have a part in a complete athletic program. This could include a full intra-mural program for every grade from the sixth up.

We would like to see those young men equipped for football and basketball even as they are for baseball. We would like to see classes in other sports, such as golf.

We see no reason why a bit of extra money should not be paid to coaches who would give their time and talents to such a program. In fact, a playground director, such as Fred Bell, could very nicely head up a junior football league.

TURN THE LIGHT BACK ON

Those television lights which beamed down onto the principals in the labor hearings and the nationwide headlines which screamed the story to millions of readers suddenly have become very quiet. But the hearings have continued and very sensationaly.

However, the shoe has changed feet. It has been revealed that leading industrialists have cooperated with labor leaders to cross up the average wage-earner. Only the New York Times and a very few others have given the unpleasant story real coverage.

NEXT ON THE SCENE

The next hearings which should interest you because they will reveal actions which directly affect your life will be held in December by the Moulder committee. It will investigate the regulatory agencies in Washington, such as the Federal Trade Commission, Federal Communications Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, and about twenty others.

This is a very hot subject because it is apt to reveal that the current administration has packed these commissions with men from the very businesses and fields of activity they are supposed to regulate. So warm is the subject that the lawyer chosen to do the job was given a third degree by obvious opponents of the idea. Bernard

Your telephone neighbors join you in contributing money and manpower to worthy community causes

Telephone people are good citizens almost by definition, because the nature of telephone work attracts men and women with a highly developed sense of community responsibility.

In almost any type of worthy activity, you will find that telephone people give generously of both their time and money. To cite but one example, the gifts of our employees this year to Community Chests and Federations in company-sponsored plans alone will total considerably more than a half-million dollars.

And chances are that both the work and the money of telephone people have provided valuable support to your local Red Cross, PTA, service clubs, hospital organizations, scouting groups and many others.

The 39,000 Pennsylvania telephone people know that community service is a privilege and a pleasure. Because they are good citizens, they help make good communities.

We are a vital part of Pennsylvania's economy

Telephone people and the telephone company contribute to the welfare of the community in many other ways. Our employees spend most of their $177 million annual wages with local concerns. As a company, we purchased supplies and services valued at more than $41 million last year from hundreds of businesses, large and small, throughout the areas we serve.

In one way or another, directly or indirectly, telephone people and the telephone company contribute to the well-being of almost every Pennsylvanian. That is why the successful operation of our company is important to everybody.

CONCENTRATED GAIN

One of the major troubles we find with too many government agencies is that the studies they provide for publication are about a year behind. They do not reveal the current story.

Such a report is the one that reveals Warren county had a productive gain from 1955 to 1956. The number of plants went down from 87 to 82, but the total number of employees climbed from 5,251 to 5,468. These are employees of manufacturing industries only.

The wages paid increased from $20.9 million to $25.3 million. The value of the production skipped upward from $69.5 million to $85.3 million. And the value added by manufacture increased from $33.9 to $41.3.

The increase probably was even greater than the figures reveal because the 1955 records included four establishments classified as nonmanufacturing and not included in the 1956 statistics.

NEW LANGUAGE

James Reston, writing in the New York Times of November 10, does a column on the latest change in our language, the first he says since English took over in 1918. He says univack, an electronic truth detector, has produced definitions for a baffled world.

He then lists many words and expressions which he amusingly defines. An example is "Crash program" which he says is a method of scientific discovery or military production that costs twice as much as it should because it is three years late.

He says the "air force" is an organization of valiant humans who flew in machines for a brief period between 1917 and 1957.

An "orbitch" he says is a female dog orbiting in outer space.

BUY ONE

When you buy a tag this Friday or Saturday from one of the high school girls who are selling them for the Warren County Association for Retarded Children, you will be helping to make life worth living for many people who today face a future of nothingness. We are speaking of those who have not been trained to do a job for industry because of their limitations.

Though our schools provide special classes for retarded children there is nothing but idleness for them after they become adults. The Association hopes to establish a sheltered workshop and occupational training center.

This will result in two accomplishments. Many will be able to take their place in routine jobs and as such will be more valuable than the employees who constantly change from one job to another. And those who cannot take their place in normal jobs will have a shop in which to keep busy and can do consignment work or make items that can be sold to help support the workshop.

NEED MORE PAY

A $2 per day raise for employees of the Warren State Hospital is being asked by Raymond B. Anderson, president of Local 469. He says these people like their work and the service they are providing, but will have to take jobs in industry in order to keep pace with the present cost of living. He says New York State increased such employees $300 last year and this year jumped the pay another 10 to 17 percent. Pennsylvania, a major industrial state, lags behind.

DIVERTING ALLEGHENY RIVER WOULD BE MAJOR LOSS TO THIS AREA

By Bob Walsh

Sufficient pressure evidently has been applied in higher echelons to have a new study made of the proposal to divert flood waters of the upper Allegheny river to Lake Erie. Colonel Smyther, division chief in Cincinnati, has employed a private engineering firm to do the job.

The obvious purpose is to obtain the opinion of an outside engineering firm so that the corps of army engineers cannot be labeled as prejudiced. The Seneca Indians in their fight against the Allegheny river reservoir near Kinzua have claimed that diversion is the right way. This step possibly is intended to placate them.

The study will begin immediately and we should have the report by April 1. Army engineer records are available to the civilian firm, and the fact that the proposal already has been studied by the military men suggests that quick comparisons can be made and the independent firm can decide if the previous decision was based on credible grounds.

NOT THE ANSWER

No matter what this independent firm comes up with, this section should be actively opposing diversion. We doubt if it will prevent floods of a major nature. But even if it did we would be strongly opposed to the idea.

Forgetting the flood aspect entirely, we would prefer to see this water stored and saved for the nation's river system, rather than poured into an already fat lake. To so misuse our natural water resources would be a loss to many interested groups, and to the nation as a whole.

The dam is a part of an overall plan to make the most of a natural resource. All of us will need make some sacrifice in order that this plan may be carried out. We must pay the bill. Those who gain the most actually are those who on the face of it seem to be the most affected. But they are well compensated materially. Well enough to many times make up for their small share of the dollar costs.

We doubt if diversion can be found to have any value to us as an area or as a nation. It could do much harm, and will not come cheap.

A look at our river of the past late summer and fall will reveal what happens when we let our winter and spring supplies of water rush off to the sea. The river could have been maintained at a very healthy level if the water had been stored and allowed to run out in a controlled flow.

Communities with sewage and industrial waste problems should appreciate this fact. The bacteria count in low water is exceedingly high per cubic foot. It is greatly reduced when the water is maintained at a healthy level.

Communities with a recreational income, especially those whose future could gain much by the full use of the river, will suffer if the water is forever lost by diverting it to Lake Erie. A store supply would make the summer and fall flow sufficient for boating, swimming, and much better fishing.

Those who complain about what the water will do to a small valley above Kinzua seem to forget how much good it will do to hundreds of miles of river downstream.

* WHERE ARE THE NAVIGATORS?

Those perennial opponents of the dam, the dreamers and the proponents of river navigation should be very unhappy about this diversion idea. If those who once argued that the dam would block navigation were sincere, they now should be fighting just as hard against diversion. You can't navigate without water. They would have looked great this past summer and fall, and even now, attempting to put river barges up that dribble we have seen trickling by.

The answer to sincere river navigation enthusiasts is water conservation. Flood waters saved for dry season use would make travel possible much further upstream than is the case today. Flood waters poured into lake Erie never would float a matchstick downstream.

INDUSTRY WOULD LOSE

The economy of this nation depends much on its industry. And much of this industry needs clean water supplies. No river should be wasted in the natural growth that is to come as our population springs into higher figures.

The Allegheny river is no exception and the clean water contained in a large reservoir will mean much to the economy of the nation by providing natural sites for industry along our river.

The Warren Chamber of Commerce, the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, and all similar groups from here to the mouth of the Mississippi should be opposing this diversion proposal. We need this water in the stream that flows by our doors.

THINK BIG

We have sympathized with the sentiments of those whose homes may be lost when a dam is built. We have recognized the Indians and their right to oppose any project that might affect their lands. But isn't it time that we set aside provincial thinking and took a broad look at the bigger picture? Isn't it time for America to grow up a bit?

There is much clinging to the sovereignty of little geographical areas, and groups. This colonial thinking is not America, 1957. If we are to hold our own in this world of major nations, we must set aside petty selfishness and learn to live on a larger plane.

It is time that the Indians became one of us. This is a major subject in itself, and works both ways. Our attempt to isolate a people within our midst has been unreal and impractical. It also has created a class consciousness that should not exist and has retarded the progress of many potentially capable and brilliant citizens.

This does not apply so much to the Senecas who are the most advanced Indians in the nation and have proved that they can be assimilated into our way of life and become leading citizens.

All those who live within these borders should be able to find a home with the rest of us. Any property they own which is needed by the nation has a material value which Erie is not the answer to our flood problem. And if it is, perhaps you will be interested in the fact that it also will require a dam, and a reservoir, and that many people will be discomfited by the property required to do the job.

All of us should be fighting this idea because of the great loss of water it would mean to us. And water is one of our most valuable assets.

NOT A CURE

Here we go again, but people are buying Ar-Pan-Ex, apparently believing the claims that it is a "wonder" drug and will cure arthritis, rheumatism, lumbago, neuritis, and sciatica. Not so, says the FTC, as it charges the Reed Products Co., of St. Louis, with making false claims.

*** ALSO NOT A CURE

Dry-Tabs will not correct bed-wetting in all cases, as claimed, says the FTC. It is of no value except in cases of functional bed-wetting not involving organic defects or diseases, and it should not be used by children less than

AND AS FOR DANDRUFF

The makers of Dermel have agreed to stop making many claims for it, including their boast that it will permanently eliminate dandruff, keep the scalp healthy, prevent loss of hair, and on into the usual string of superlatives. If you have some on the shelf you can act accordingly.

KANTLEEK CLAIMS DO

The price of Kantleek, asbestos roof coating, and its supply in some areas have been misrepresented, says the FTC. The commission states:

"We shipped a carload of 'Kantleek' asbestos roof coating to Pittsburgh recently with the understanding that any material left over could be returned to us for credit.

"We are now informed that there are eight 55 gallon drums 'over.' Can you use these drums or any part of them? If you can cooperate with us in this matter we will allow you a substantial discount from our specification price of $1.50 per gallon. 20% off . . ."

"The city mentioned in the letter is changed according to the location of the customers solicited, the complaint adds.

The truth is, the complaint alleges, the company has no specific amounts of this product available near the customer's home, as excess from a larger shipment.

"The regular price of 'Kantleek,' the complaint continues, is considerably less than $1.50 a gallon, and that price less 20% is not a reduction but more closely approximates the usual price.

"Other claims cited as false by the complaint state: 'Established 1909' and 'Manufacturers of waterproofing specialties.' The concern was established at a much later date, the complaint charges, and it does not make any of the products it sells.

The Universal Sewing Service, Inc., of Cincinnati, has been ordered to stop using bait advertising and false claims to sell sewing machines and vacuum cleaners. This is a FTC action.

The examiner, Joseph Callaway, ruled that the company's low advertised prices are not bona fide offers to sell but are to obtain leads on prospective buyers. Universal's salesmen calling upon customers make no effort to sell the advertised appliances but disparage them and attempt to sell similar products at much higher prices, he continued.

Contrary to the company's newspaper advertisements and radio and television commercials, the examiner said, its products are not unconditionally guaranteed for 5 or 20 years, but the guarantees have limitations which are not disclosed until after sale and delivery.

Notwithstanding assurances to purchasers to the contrary, he continued, Universal sells its contracts and notes to finance companies, thus resulting in purchasers being compelled to pay unexpected carrying charges.

In some instances, the examiner said, the company completes and seeks to enforce its blank contract or note which customers sign in the belief it is a "receipt" for merchandise left on approval.

By using the name "Westinghouse" on Japanese sewing machines, the examiner ruled, the company falsely represents that these are domestic machines made by this well-known firm.

Does Big Business Share Profits And Sacrifices?

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON, -- From President Eisenhower and Vice-President Richard M. Nixon on down, including some outsiders always noisy with gloomy advice, we are getting the familiar talk about bigger defense expenditures, no tax reduction, sacrifices, tightening our belts, and so forth to catch up with Russia in the scientific conquest of outer space.

We are preached to about what "the people" must do.

Our people can be depended upon to sacrifice. They always have -- and willingly. But, as we gird ourselves with much rhetoric, may a long-time observer of the Washington scene suggest quietly that sacrifice be equal, if possible. That is, that powerful industrial interests which produce the needed rockets, satellites, space ships and what-not do not reap the usual excessive profits and do not evade their proportionate share of the cost in taxes through special privileges, as has been the case up to now.

It was so in World War II. We here who were close to the war production problem as reporters can recall how our leading industries balked at cooperating and converting their plants until they got guarantees of tax concessions and -- though we had not actually got into the war yet -- favorable terms about renegotiation of contracts when the war was over.

They got what they wanted, of course, though some bold fellows in Congress talked out loud about the "sitdown" strike of big industry. Among their concessions were the quick tax writeoffs for war plants to induce expansion of needed war production. These were revived for the Korean War and thereafter continued during this Administration to provide tax easement for all sorts of industries.

Finally the outcry from the conservative Virginia Democrat, Senator Harry F. Byrd, chairman of the Finance Committee, who had learned about these lush special privileges, forced through a bill early this summer to stop them except for industries directly related to defense.

Continuation of the quick tax writeoffs was just one among tax privileges during this Administration for big corporations and wealthy taxpayers. They included liberalization of depreciation allowances and special tax reduction on dividends for coupon clippers.

Left untouched were the old unconscionable special tax privileges for the oil industry, including the 27 1/2 percent depletion allowance and all sorts of exemptions not enjoyed by other industries.

During these years the taxpayer of small and medium income has gotten nothing of any consequence in reductions. He has no depreciation or depletion allowances, but probably can tighten his belt and stand continued high taxes along with high prices of food, clothing, rent, and such. But the government could get several billions, enough to pay increased defense costs, merely by removing special privileges for big corporations -- and probably won't.

Among other needs stressed in this crisis for American science is more money for education. Federal aid for such is opposed by powerful interests represented in the National Association of Manufacturers and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, who demand it be done by states and loyal communities.

A very interesting case in point has come to hand that shows what we are up against. This is in the Falls Township School Board, at Fallsington, Pa., in Bucks County, where United States Steel has a big plant that has brought in new people and increased the cost of schools.

The solicitor of the school board, T. Sidney Cadwallader, II, has done a little exploring and figuring about what the plant is contributing in the way of taxes in this community. He has found that, while the assessment for home owners is on the basis of 20 percent of valuation, the steel plant enjoys an assessment much below the figure it gave the Cadwallader got so stirred up about it that he issued a public statement in which he started off by quoting a statement by Roger M. Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel. Blough said the corporation reached a new peak in profit earnings for the third quarter of 1957 and paid $161 million in dividends. To Cadwallader this indicates the company should and could pay its share for support of schools, which he contends it is not doing. Among other things, he said:

"We feel that the company should bear in mind that it has some very real financial obligations in the areas in which its plants are located....We certainly do not feel that it is unreasonable to expect more tax funds from the steel company when they have asked and secured from the Federal government a tax writeoff at better than four hundred million dollars. They are assessed for a little over twenty two and a half million dollars in Falls Township and this seems like an unfair percentage against the taxes paid by individual homeowners."

Well said, Cadwallader. Hurrah for you! We need more Cadwalladers. How refreshing it sounds to the ears of anyone who sits here, year after year, and watches the people do the sacrificing and pay the bills, and fight the wars, while the rich just get richer.

Stevenson's Brains Are Needed

By Doris Fleeson

WASHINGTON. -- Secretary of State John Foster Dulles brought Adlai Stevenson to Washington to pick his brains.

Dulles is working against a deadline of December 3, only three weeks away. President Eisenhower fixed it when he invited Congressional leaders here on that date to discuss plans for meeting the Soviet space challenge.

Dulles clearly perceives that in a very real sense the President put a gun at Dulles' head. The chins-up telecasts written by the chief brain trust, Arthur Larson, may do for general consumption, but Congress is another story.

Its senior Republican Senator, Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, has joined Democratic leaders in demanding action. Other Republicans are returning here from the grass roots with warnings that the public is apprehensive and that all members of Congress will want something positive from the White House.

Thus Dulles is desperate for ideas. Ideas are, of course, a specialty of intellectuals, and Stevenson belongs to the elite of that breed.

It is by now clear that the Administration never had any great desire or hope of enlisting Stevenson in the new effort in any role or real power or prestige. At the State Department, when Stevenson arrived for his first huddle with Dulles, the information officers had no clear notions about anything except that the conference was a fact.

Regarding his security clearance, title or emoluments, they were vague. It was left to Stevenson to say how long he would be in town and what time he might spend at State. Apparently it was considered enough that he would sit down behind closed doors, open his mouth and let the words and ideas flow.

He was not met at the airport Sunday night by any Administration official and he was left to make his own arrangements. He and his assistant, William Blair, went to the Metropolitan Club, where they have long been members, and only by a happy accident were saved from the Sunday drought enforced here by the liquor laws.

The President has still to speak to Stevenson, and his brief note to him was written only after the press stressed the fact.

The tipoff on the situation, indeed, came early with White House Secretary James Hagerty's howler. Hagerty had his facts regarding Stevenson wrong and had to retract. Since Hagerty helps make White House policy, it was clear that he had been briefed -- inadequately -- by Dulles' office and that the President was keeping his distance.

Perhaps the tentative nature of the present accommodation is just as well. Stevenson cannot commit the Democratic Congress and would not try. Furthermore, as his initial statement made clear, he has grave misgivings about the Administration's commitment to the clear and present danger posed by Soviet achievements.

He does not want to associate himself with a program designed only to get the sputnik off the front pages. Unless he is satisfied that much more will be attempted, he can be expected to bow out.

In Brief

AN EXCEPTION to the building code parking regulations has been granted Mel Anderson by the board of adjustments, but whether or not borough authorities will now grant permission for the Warren man to turn the old Carver Hotel annex into a new hotel still remains.

The proposed hotel site is adjacent to the new Emblem station parking area on Hickory st.

Alan Sheffield, of Lakewood, N.Y., missed a curve and rolled his car over at 2 a.m. Sunday just south of Russell on Route 62. The driver escaped injury, but two passengers, Charles Fish, Sinclairville, and Arthur Whiteman, of Jamestown, were admitted to Warren General for treatment.

A 19-YEAR-OLD Russell area woman was badly injured at 8:40 a.m. last Thursday when the car she was riding left the highway and struck a utility pole near the country club on Route 62.

ATTORNEY GENERAL Thomas D. McBride inferred this week that the State Pardons Board may recommend life imprisonment for Norman W. Moon if psychiatrists find him insane.

After another stay of execution granted by Gov. Leader last Friday, the 32-year-old Connellsville man is now under sentence to die on December 2 for shooting Judge Allison D. Wade in a Warren county court room January 13, 1954.

Moon was examined recently by three Pittsburgh psychiatrists on request of the board and made a report. McBride claims if the convicted man is found insane he cannot be executed.

The defense counsel also has an appeal pending in the U.S. Supreme Court.

AFTER 65 YEARS the Woolworth Co. store in Warren will close its doors for the last time December 26th, according to manager William Dawes.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS have approved formation of a county planning commission and expect to have a committee approved by the first of 1958.

FIVE ACCIDENTS required investigation by State Police officers over the Friday-Saturday week end period.

The first occurred at 8:40 p.m. Friday on Route 337 in Pleasant township when Lawrence Dolby, of Clarion, attempted to pass Hertha Herron, of Pleasant township, as the latter started a left turn into a side road. Only minor damage resulted.

A more serious accident happened at 11:05 that night about two miles south of Tidioute on Route 62 where James Farley, Cleveland, Ohio, plowed into a concrete bridge abutment and demolished his auto. The driver was taken to Warren General Hospital for treatment along with a passenger, 19-year-old Peggy Ann Marshall, of Pleasantville. The young lady was admitted with a fractured skull.

A pair of sideswipes took place Saturday. One, a hit and run case, was about five miles west of Warren at 1:15 a.m. Elsa Zega, of Kane, was the identified operator and her vehicle received about $150 damage. Police are continuing their investigation.

The second happened on the Sugar Grove-Round Hill rd. and involved east and west bound cars operated by Edmond Ellis, Chandlers Valley, and W. R. Overturf, Youngsville. About $400 damage was caused.

FAILURE TO NEGOTIATE a curve just south of Russell on Route 62 about 2 a.m. Sunday resulted in extensive damage to this 1954 Pontiac operated by Alan Sheffield, of Lakewood, N.Y. Two New York State passengers in the car were injured.

COURT HOUSE TOURS for high school students are to be sponsored by the Warren County Bar Association to better acquaint the young people with the operation of county government.

IT'S LATER THAN YOU THINK is the slogan at the Warren Post Office.

A few notes on Christmas mailings: From here on through the pre-Christmas mailing season hours of service will be extended to meet requirements and at least one window will be kept open Wednesday afternoons; the postmaster suggests you get your stamps early and mail your cards first class for prompt delivery; don't use brilliantly colored envelopes that may interfere with legible address or postmark; the overseas deadline for ordinary parcel post ended yesterday so to assure arrival it is suggested you use airmail -- and remember airmail packages to APO addressed are limited to two pounds.

Saturday at 10:40 a.m. Louise H. Stewart, of 106 W. Fifth ave., went through a red light at the Fifth ave. and Market st. intersection and caught the left front end of an auto operated by F. W. Johnson, of R. D. 1, Russell. The Stewart woman suffered a bruised nose and possible rib fractures, with about $550 damage inflicted on the cars.

WRONG TRACK. A drunken driving charge was placed by borough police against Clyde Joseph Phillips, of R. D. 1, Russell, after a car-train mishap at the Pennsylvania Railroad depot on the west side at 1:45 a.m. Saturday.

AT A RECENT meeting of the Red Cross Three-State Council on Services to camps and hospitals in Pittsburgh the Warren County Chapter agreed to help furnish Christmas presents for Oakland and Deshon VA hospitals, refreshments for Leech Farm VA Hospital, books for the Nike Sites and post cards for the Oakland VA Hospital.

PERSONALITIES. Floyd Buckner, a representative of the Pennsylvania State Employees' Council, will be in Warren Friday to attend the dance of the Warren State Hospital Local 469 at the Marconi Outing Club.

New officers of the Needlework Guild are Mrs. James Miller, president; Mrs. David Crossett, Jr., vice president; Mrs. A. F. Dunham, secretary; and Mrs. Richard Smith, treasurer.

JOIN UP NOW. The YMCA's annual drive for 800 members is now on. At the initial report dinner Tuesday 334 persons had been signed up, and it is expected the drive will exceed the goal by the final report dinner next Tuesday.

VOD CONTEST. County-wide finals of the annual Jaycee Voice of Democracy project will be held this Sunday with finalists from Warren, Northern Area, Sheffield, Tidioute and Youngsville high schools competing. Individual school eliminations take place Friday.

Judges will make their final selection this year by listening to tape recordings.

APPOINTMENTS. Sylvania Electric of Warren has announced the appointment of Henry McConnell as manager of the Warren Wire Plant. He is being replaced in his former position of manufacturing superintendent in the plant by Harold T. Bright. The latter was moved up clergy and a few others will be held this Saturday.

DAY OF TRIUMPH, a film built around the life of Christ, and very much along the lines of the Passion Play, will be seen in the Library theatre for two days, December 4 and 5. A private showing for the clergy and a few others will be held this Saturday.

More Tax-Saving Deductions And How To Time Them

This is the third in a series of four articles on federal income taxes. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

If you are one of those individual taxpayers who is constantly being collared and dollarized for charitable contributions, you may save money by paying particular attention to the timing and planning of your year-end donations.

Before paying-off on any more 1957 pledges you might have made, remember that you will not receive a tax credit for your charitable contributions unless you itemize deductions on your return. You can't take the standard 10-per cent deduction and a special deduction for donations to charity. You may take only one or the other; so plan your year-end pledge payments accordingly.

Planning Charitable Gifts

If you will be forced to take the standard 10-per cent deduction this year, your best tax move would be to defer payment on your outstanding pledges until after January 1, pyramiding them into 1958 when you may be able to itemize deductions. However, if you have had a better-than-average income year and are trying to bunch itemized deductions on this year's return, you should pay not only the pledges you have made but possibly the pledges you would ordinarily make in early 1958.

Here is an important point to keep in mind as you plan your year-end pledge payments: a charitable contribution will be considered paid—and therefore deductible—in the year when the check is delivered to the charity and not when it is actually cashed.

Property Donations

A gift does not have to be in cash to entitle you to a charitable deduction. It can be in property, and since you can claim a deduction for the full market value of a property gift, it may actually pay you to give away items that are now worth more than they cost.

For example, suppose that you own a few shares of stock that cost you $100 a few years ago. Today the stock is worth $150, and apparently fully priced. If you know you are going to be approached by a church, charity, college or the like for a sizeable donation within the next few months, you might consider contributing these securities before the end of the year.

By giving this property away, the organization you care to favor will benefit by receiving property which they may hold or sell, and you will establish a $150 charitable deduction for your 1957 tax return. Furthermore, you avoid paying a capital gains tax on the profit.

If you must dismiss the idea of giving away a piece of real estate or a block of stock within the next few years, don't overlook the opportunity of building up your charitable deduction by donating such "property" as used furniture, clothing, books and toys to a worthy charity. The value of these items is deductible, too.

Prepaying State Taxes

The state and local taxes which you pay are also deductible items that often can be pyramided to give a tax advantage. Some taxes that fall due early in 1958 can be prepaid to give you an additional deduction on this year's federal tax return. On the other hand, it may be to your advantage to delay payments until 1958. Be careful when you do this, however. You may incur a late payment penalty.

Farmer Tax Tactics

While businessmen and farmers can do everything that a salaried worker can do to cut their tax bills, they also have special opportunities to time year-end deductions.

A farmer, for example, who reports for tax purposes on a cash basis, can deduct his expenditures in the year paid. By purchasing his 1958 grain requirements in December, he can increase deductions on his 1957 return. If he borrows money to make this purchase, the interest paid on the loan during the year is also deductible.

A businessman, whose year-end tax plan calls for bunching deductions on this year's return, can time the sale of used equipment to establish loss deductions. For example, by selling a truck that has a depreciated value of $800 and a real market value of $500, a businessman may claim a tax credit for his $300 "loss." If he sells the truck before December 31, he can take this deduction on his 1957 return.

PAY TV, yes or no, was the subject of a special survey conducted by Pulse, Inc. for a well-known trade magazine. The poll was conducted in 10 major markets representing all sections of the country.

The result indicated viewers were 2 to 1 against the plan. Most of those interviewed hinted that if they had to pay to watch, the programs they would choose would include those which now enjoy high ratings, such as Playhouse 90, Climax, Father Knows Best, Perry Como, Cavalcade of Sports, etc. The survey actually was not especially conclusive.

ED SULLIVAN will feature popular singers with special appeal to teen-agers in an effort to lure away some of "Maverick's" young viewers. The latter, a Western, had a higher rating than Sullivan for the first time on Sunday, Nov. 10.

*** SPUTLESS RECEPTION

What the satellite experiments may mean to radio and television is better reception. It is possible that a means of reflecting a strong signal will be devised using a surface that can be launched or created above us. We also learn much about the stratosphere and its effect on tv and radio signals. How to control some of the troublesome effects is the big one facing all broadcasters today.

WEEK'S HI-LITES

20TH CENTURY, another CBS special Sunday p.m. at 6:00, turns to one of the most startling and ominous phenomena of our time in a special hour-long study of "Brain-washing". The program calls as witnesses a group of survivors of Communist attempts to submerge the individual in the grim anonymity of the state. WBEN, WFBG, WSEE.

PIED PIPER OF HAMELIN, an NBC Special, will be the big attraction Tuesday night at 7:30-9:00 on WICU, WJAC and WBUF. The musical play is based on the well-known classic poem by Robert Browning and stars Van Johnson and Claude Rains. Also featured are Kay Starr, Lori Nelson and Jim Backus. Music is based on "Grieg's Peer Gynt Suite."

ANNIE GET YOUR GUN, NBC Special, will be presented 8:30-10:30 Wednesday night via WICU, WJAC and WBUF. Mary Martin is starred with John Raitt. This is the television production of Irving Berlin's Broadway and motion picture musical hit that tells of the rivalry between Annie Oakley and Frank Butler, with whom she is in love, for the honor of being the world's champion sharpshooter.

MUSIC and lyrics by Irving Berlin. THANKSGIVING DAY PARADES will be seen at 10:15 a.m. Thursday on WGR, WFBG and WICU with (don't get your holidays confused) J. L. Hudson's Christmas parade, Macy's Christmas parade at 11 a.m. on WJAC, WICU and WBUF, and Bamberger's parade on WGR at 2:30.

JEFFERSON STREET school youngsters pictured are busy reading and coloring the new Jaycee Safety booklets given to all second and third grade pupils in Warren elementary schools as a part of a Jaycee drive to cut down traffic fatalities among children.

These students are from the second grade classes taught by Mrs.

Duff and Miss Gaghan and the third grade rooms instructed by Miss Thoreson and Miss Knapp.

The project was not done as a part of the school art program, but as a reading-safety comprehension lesson.

Bob Geiger is Jaycee project chairman.

A VISIT TO WARREN was made Tuesday by Ralph Blasingame, state librarian, for the purpose of conferring with the board of control of the Warren Public Library. Both state and local library problems were discussed.

The official also visited with the county commissioners concerning the proposed County Library System.

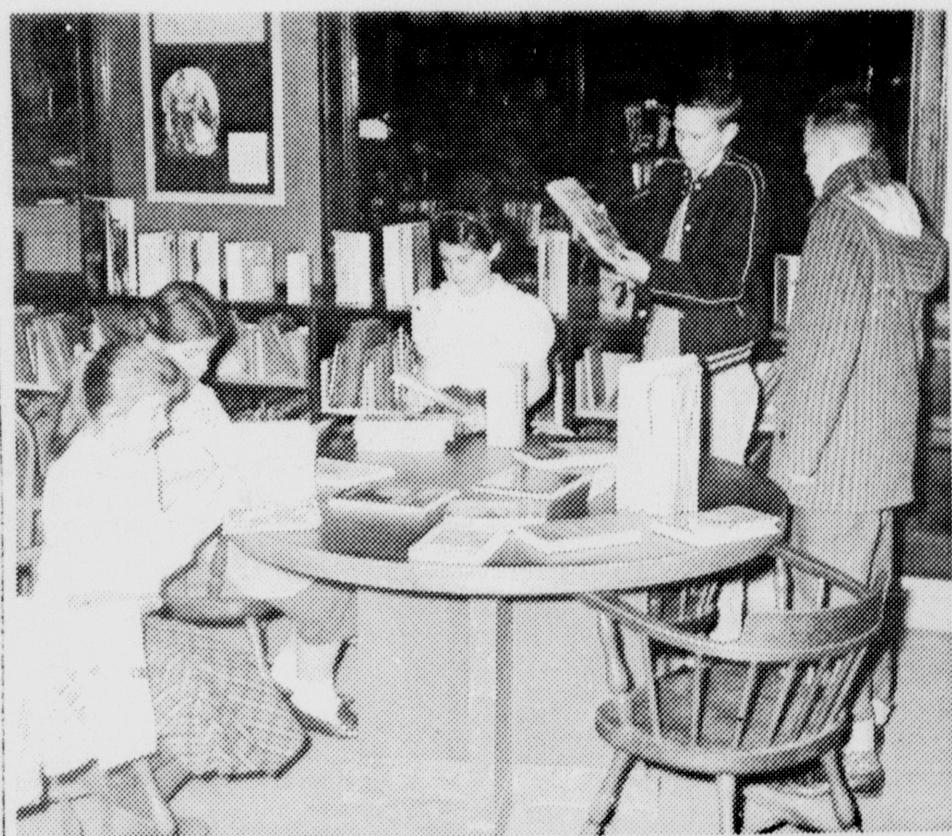

Mr. Blasingame is pictured with Mrs. Georgia Coyle, local librarian.

Mabel Sponsler, Mrs. Violet Firth, Mrs. Florence Anderson, Mrs. Opal Reddecliff, Miss Theresa Fagley, Mrs. Evelyn Genberg, and Miss Sallie Weiler.

Principal Mrs. Helena Iseman and Mrs. Gilberta Irvin were not present.

SIXTH GRADERS at North Warren school who planned the cafeteria menus this week were (l. to r.) front--Kathy Amann, Lisa Johnson, Nancy Chase, Paula Hudson, Marian Hartman, Tom Mintzer; back--Mrs. Stan Lawson, of the cafeteria staff, Denny Seymour, Mary Wescott, Bob Crossett and Jim Dies.

HELP RETARDED CHILDREN

CHRISTMAS WRAPPINGS were displayed by Sugar Grove and Chandlers Valley homemakers at the Countywide Christmas Meeting held last week at Starbrick.

TRACKS IN THE SKY are becoming commonplace. On an ideal day for "trailing" a clear sky will reveal the paths of many planes. This area no longer is isolated from the airways as can be proved with a crook in the neck. This crossing was shot last Friday. At the time this picture was made seven such trails could be seen in the sky, and more were being formed by passing travelers.

SPIRITED MOMENT — Nora Charles (center), her husband Nick and a spiritualist become involved in a lively situation replete with seances, ventriloquists and hurled knives in the NBC-TV "Thin Man" adventure titled "That's the Spirit" Friday, Nov. 22. Peter Lawford and Phyllis Kirk star in the series as Nick and Nora. Dorothy Neuman plays the spiritualist.

Television and Radio

By John Crosby

The City Station Five Years Later

Five years ago I wrote that WNYC, the city-owned radio station in New York, was in deep distress. City Comptroller Lazarus Joseph suggested closing the station to save the city $315,000. But today WNYC is charging along merrily although it costs the city $435,000 a year to run.

But what the city gets for its money! Festivals. Five years ago I mentioned that a

WNYC sometimes scrapped its schedule to carry a Shakespearian Festival. Now there are more festivals than ever -- art, opera, poetry, books, plays. Whole weeks are devoted to education, science, or mental health. Hours are devoted to music (including some excruciatingly esoteric music) and there is more live music than on any other station. WNYC also devotes more time to the spoken word than ever before. Seymour

Siegel, director of the station, says there is a big thirst for this sort of culture and WNYC is busily filling it. There is Cyril Ritchard's

BBC Theater with BBC recordings of plays introduced by Ritchard, and programs of poets reading their own poetry.

Music is still -- as it was five years ago -- the most popular thing on WNYC. Five years ago the station had a connoisseur's connoisseur of music named David Randolph; today, says Siegel, WNYC has "about a dozen David Randolphs." Today the station has Ruby Mercer who does the "Mr. and Mrs.

Opera" show, plays records and interviews artists and Metropolitan Opera executives.

New York still gets more U. N.

coverage than any other city, although WNYC carries about 100 hours a week less than it once did.

WNYC's passionately loyal little band of listeners (400,000 to 500,

000) is as vociferous, opinionated, and as loyal as ever. They write furious letters when a festival comes along and interrupts their regular programs, eliminating some of their favorites for a week. They write in to say they're hopping mad but

-- says Siegel -- "the letters always end by saying we understand and we love you anyway."

Actually, they can't stay mad when WNYC is all they have. The station is the egghead's last stronghold, WQXR, "The New York Times" station, having sold out to the monied interests long ago. No

Most American families respond each year to a letter which contains Christmas Seals . . . and requests a contribution to fight tuberculosis year-round.

This makes possible activities which have helped cut the TB death rate 95% . . . yet tuberculosis still kills more people than all other infectious diseases combined.

So use Christmas Seals from now 'til Christmas . . . and remember to answer the letter, please.

HERE'S HOW

You should read the November 18 issue of Sports Illustrated. Don Carter, national match game champ, gives a very clear explanation and demonstration of the bowling delivery. It is well drawn by those who so clearly penned Ben Hogan's instructions last spring.

***

A BIG SHOW will be seen over WBEN, Saturday afternoon at two. Allie Brandt, owner of bowling's highest total, will meet Dick Hoover, one of the nation's best, in a live match.

***

Back in Warren, Bob Denardi's 611 in the Junior Industrial loop paced local keglers during the week's action. Second place went to two men who toppled the pins for 608 series. Norm Wooster's 608 topped the Men's City rollers and Pete Juliano was high in the Industrial league with the same score. Dave Fink led the Commercial league with 601, Lee Munch hit 573 in the Merchants loop and Joe Musante's 565 led the K. of C. National league.

Other league leaders were Fred Aumer, K. of C. American, 565; Frank Sterly, Sylvania, 544; George Gnage, Junior, 502; Bob Cassell, Shop, 477; and Lewis Spangler, Metzger Wright, 469.

In the mixed leagues, Busti Pintagro with 564 and Charlotte Guiffre with 474 led the Tuesday night loop. The Friday nighters were topped by Mush Hedges' 529 and Marge Larson's 475.

***

Rita Miley topped the women keglers with a 551 in the Ladies Major.

BULLDOGS TAKE DRAGONS, TIE FOR LEAGUE CROWN

A fourth quarter touchdown gave the Meadville Bulldogs, perennial Section II District 10 basketball champions, a 6 to 0 win over the Warren Dragons and the Bulldogs first undefeated, untied season in their history and a tie for the Section II District 10 football championship last Tuesday night.

The Dragons, who have looked vastly superior to their season's record in their last three games, dominated play for the first three quarters of the game but could not penetrate the stubborn Meadville defense close to the goal line. With but six minutes to play in the game, a fourth down screen pass gave Meadville a first down on the Warren 11 and three plays later the Bulldogs tallied the game's only score.

The game marked the close of their scholastic football career for eight seniors on the WHS squad Jack Suppa, Jerry Martin, Tom Gerarde, Connie Hultman, Ronnie Bowen, Dick Kyler, Jerry Archibald and Dave Sedwick.

Both Meadville and Titusville will receive trophies for sharing the 1957 football championship of Section II District 10, although a play-off for the title would seem in order since the two teams have not faced each other on the gridiron this season.

MONDAY BOXING MATCHES SCHEDULED FOR YMCA GYM

Amateur boxing will make its second appearance of the year at the YMCA next Monday night, November 25, when Tom Gerarde, Warren, and Ed Kent, Little Valley, N.Y., tangle in a light heavyweight bout and Joe Campagna, Warren, meets Leland Penhollow, Jamestown, in the 130 pound division. The bouts, arranged by Joe Fazio, Warren, and Jimmy Clark, Jamestown, will consist of five rounds lasting two minutes each. Clark, a middleweight contender in the 1930's, will officiate.

Action in the prelims will be furnished by Jim Gaghan, Harrison McCool, Gene Musante, Danny McCool and Tom Suppa.

The first boxing bouts held in the YMCA gym last month drew an overflow crowd to the "Y".

THE OBSERVER

FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Few games were played in scholastic circles last weekend as most high school teams had completed their 1957 football schedules. An inspired Warren team lost to Erie Academy, 22 to 20. Corry edged Grove City, 21 to 19, Meadville walloped Erie East, 27 to 6, Farrell spanked Sharon, 33 to 7, and unbeaten St. Marys dumped Brockway, 13 to 6.

STYLERS CONTINUE TO WIN

A 22 point spurt in the final quarter gave the Style Shop an 84 to 74 win over Marlin Rockwell of Jamestown last Saturday night. At the end of the third quarter, the visitors held a one point lead over the Warren five. Gail Nelson's 38 points were high for the night.

NEW DRAGONS BARELY EDGED BY ERIE ACADEMY

The Dragon breathed fire for the first time this year on War Memorial Field last Saturday afternoon. The Warren High School football team discovered that by putting forth a real team effort they could hold their own against any team in the area. Only a slow start and a second period safety prevented the Blue and White from recording their first win of the season as Erie Academy downed Warren, 22 to 20.

Finding themselves behind, 15 to 0, in the early minutes of the second quarter, the Dragons began to roll. Low charging, hard tackling Warren linemen began to cause the Academy backs to drop the pigskin and alert Dragon teammates pounced on the loose footballs.

The first Erie fumble was scooped up by Warren on the Academy 37 yard stripe. A few plays later Lou Mascaro went 25 yards for the first of Warren's and his three TD's of the afternoon. Trapped at the 30 yard stripe, Mascaro broke loose and dove past the last defender and into the endzone. The PAT was booted by Jerry Martin.

Following the ensuing kickoff, another Erie bobble was recovered by the Blue and White on their own 45. Mascaro ended the drive to paydirt by scoring from two yards out. Martins' boot for the PA bounced on the crossbar and hesitated a moment before going over for the Dragons' fourteenth point. At halftime the Warren eleven trailed only 15 to 14.

Academy took the lead, 22 to 14, with a third quarter TD. Far from giving up, Warren linemen caused another Academy fumble in the fourth quarter and the Dragons recovered the football on the Erie 38. With less than a minute to play, Mascaro scored for the third time of the afternoon on a one-yard plunge.

The attempted boot for the PAT was wide and the score was 22 to 20 with Erie on top. But by the end of the afternoon, the Dragons had proven that when they have the desire they can play football with the best of them.

NATURE IN FILMS

Two hundred cities in the United States have been chosen for the showing of three colored films on natural history. Leading naturalists took the pictures and will be present to lecture when they are shown. Jamestown has been chosen as one of the cities.

The first film will be seen this Friday at 7:45 p.m. in the Jamestown senior high school, with Roger Tory Peterson as the speaker. It is a film taken on a thirty thousand mile tour of this country and shows the wildlife that remains today of the original wild America.

Dr. Peterson now resides in Old Lyme, Conn., but originally came from Jamestown. He is famed as an artist, author, and lecturer, and wrote the best seller, Wild America.

The others to be seen and heard will include Emerson Scott and the movie, "Rocky Mountain Rambles", on February 23 in the Washington junior high school. This will show the brilliant colors of Colorado, and features the bighorn sheep, elk, antelope, and bison.

Laurel Reynolds, who followed the footsteps of Cortez, Sir Frances Drake, and Lewis and Clark along the Pacific coast, shows "Western Discovery" on March 16 in Washington junior high school. Elephant seals, killer whales, auklets, and many other wild inhabitants of that area, from Mexico to Puget Sound, will be seen. These last two films will be shown at three in the afternoon.

Included will be "A Busy Day for the Corset Model," shot in 1904. And there are many others filmed about that time. The interesting part of this presentation is that it can be done at all. Film used in those days deteriorated very quickly, was highly inflammable when stored, and if it lasted at all was very distorted.

The films now being shown are still usable because those who made them were well aware of the weakness of their film, and printed preservative copies on paper rolls. Though the original films have vanished, the printed copies remain, and many are stored in the Library of Congress.

Another reason that this printed film now is available is the need to use the paper form for copyrighting.

HERLIE TO STRATFORD

Eileen Herlie, Glasgow-born British actress, will be seen at Stratford, Ontario, next summer when she will be one of the guest artists for the Stratford Shakespearean Festival. She joins Christopher Plummer, Frances Hyland, and Douglas Campbell, who are returning for roles in the June 23 to September 13 program.

The plays chosen for next summer are "Much Ado About Nothing", "The Winter's Tale", and "Henry IV, Part One". Miss Herlie probably will play Beatrice in "Much Ado About Nothing".

PICTURES IN THE AIR

In this day of sky watching there are many who have started to point their lenses upward in hopes of catching some interesting traveler. The moon, the stars, jet streams, and cloud formations are receiving more than usual attention.

The big surprise often comes when a clearly defined object in the sky is "shot" but nothing shows up on the negative. Not long ago we made an experiment along this line. We shot the moon with tri-x film, exposed to a full second, and with a lens opening of 2, all nicely mounted on a tripod.

This was done about eight in the morning, and the old boy sat up there as clear as the darn. But when the negatives came out of the developing tank, the man in the moon wasn't. That unseen haze that escapes the naked eye had pulled the shade.

So enters the filter, and the dark yellow one is your little helper in this case. At high altitudes, if you want to shoot a few while on a plane trip, you also can use an ultraviolet light and a dark yellow filter. This will give you better ground detail in black and whites.

For those plane trip shots you should do a bit of thinking in advance. Get a seat next to the window and either well forward or well back of center to avoid wing interference.

Phone Warren 3523

Hold your camera close to the window and avoid extreme downward angles which may allow the double window to give you distortion. Keep your elbows off the seats or parts of the plane and don't touch the window with your camera. Such contact does not steady your shots on a plane. Just the opposite is true, due to vibration.

The best shots are made in the morning or afternoon because the shadows will provide formation and avoid flat pictures. A lens speed of 200 is best but you can do well even at 50. Treat normal sunlight like you do beach scenes, and bright sun as you would snow.

Liberace to the contrary, the best pianist, or at least one of most outstanding in the world today, will be heard in Pittsburgh Friday and Sunday when the Pittsburgh Sym-

He will be heard with the orchestra in performances of Mozart's Piano Concerto in D Major and Richard Strauss's Burleske for Piano and Orchestra. ## LAST CHANCE

If you haven't bagged one of those choice wild turkeys, Saturday is your last day this year. It also is the wind-up for grouse and squirrels.

The move is a wise one. Starting Monday the bruin can be shot, and he is very apt to be in the same woods where the gobbler is attempting to avoid your gun barrel.

Other small game, most of which is considered open country game, continues to be legal until November 30. Included are ringnecks, rabbits, and quail.

This suggests quite a variety of hunting for the Thanksgiving week. You will be able to knock over the tid-bit of a quail, or a 300-pound bear. And if the weather is reasonably good there will be a fair-sized pack of hunters out there trying.

AND SO TO BRUIN

You can put away the .22 or .25 rimfire rifle this coming week. The game wardens frown on this means of attempting to kill a healthy bear. But the frown of the wardens is nothing compared with the hunted. A bear stung by a .25 can do the nastiest things to someone he thinks accountable. And all that someone has left with which to reason things out with a charging, black, clawing chewing hulk, is . . . the .25.

And that brings up the so-called bear ball. They once were carried by many hunters who were seeking small game, with the thought that they could pop them into the shotgun in case a bear friend showed up. Some of the most torn up hunters ever seen started it all by bouncing a bear ball off a bruin's hard skull.

If you are hunting for small game, keep it that way. If you are in bear country, go loaded for it. And the safest way is a good rifle. Preferably one with which you have more than a one-day acquaintance. If you haven't fired it, there is time left before Monday. If you don't know how to sight it in find someone who does.

If you can't load it, fire, and quickly reload, you are out of step in bear country. It would be wise if you used up a box of shells getting friendly with the weapon before the opening day. It also would be cheap insurance.

We are not suggesting that bears travel in packs and that they lay in wait for innocent humans. But we do think you should fully realize that a bear is not a bunny or a grey squirrel. He can fight back and can be very mean about it if he is wounded and decides to run you off the range. In fact, if he gets close enough you will be convinced he is not attempting to chase you out of the county. It may seem more apparent that he wants to make you into several pieces so that the wind will blow you out.

A bear is an animal which can grow to better than 600 pounds in this state. You probably won't see one that large. If you see one he probably will be under 300, and no doubt over 150. If he looks like a large dog, hold your fire. Even if he is just heavy enough to suggest he is over a year old and legal why not let him enjoy another season of life and fattening? Things in the larder aren't that tough . . . are they?

You are apt to find the big blacks most anywhere these days. They have spread out into new pastures, some of them in southern counties. But Warren and Forest continue to be good bear territory, especially in the southern part of Warren county and in any of the wild portions of Forest.

The limit on bears is one to a hunter and two to a hunting party of three or more. Five hunters require a roster.

Last season the nimrods brought in 335 bears in this state. The year before the figure was 363. Warren yielded 8. Forest county provided 13.

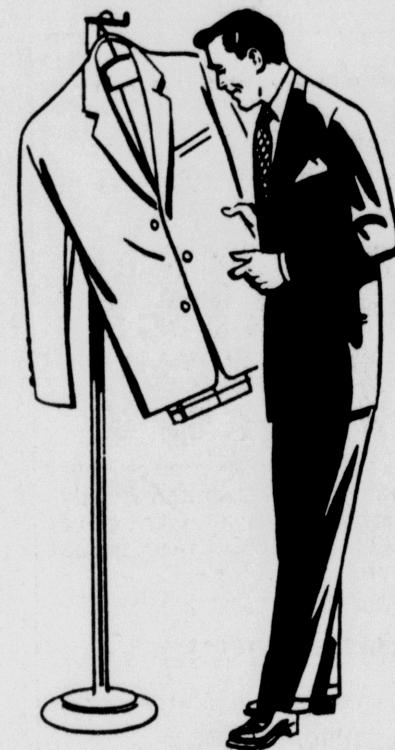

But if you want to go where the kil' really is heavy, Lycoming county reported 31 kills and our neighbor, Elk county, had 27. But when you look at the square feet, Forest is nearer and produced a high per capita and per mile number.

Warren county did better than the figure of eight indicates. A big share of this county can not be called bear country. Its characteristics are more like Erie and Crawford where no bears were shot. But the southern part of the county offers very good bear hunting, some of it so wild that we advise you not to go alone and not to venture there unless you know something about the woods and can take care of yourself if you have to spend the night outdoors in this rather chilly season.

Another thought on the location of bears may be found in a recent game commission release. Due to feeding conditions in the deep woods, game protectors have reported that the bears are on the move, as they often are when they find it necessary to seek sustenance. This could mean that you might bump into a bruin in a little more open country than he would normally choose, and no doubt would prefer if he knew you were coming.

One thing for sure, if he knew you were coming he would not bake one of those things and he is no cake-eater himself when it comes to protecting his black-coated life. Go well armed, well prepared to use your arms, know your woods, take good companions, and don't be too eager to shoot the first black thing that moves. Bring home a good one or none at all.

Above all else, make sure it's a bear. A black steer may taste better but steaks come high when obtained in that manner.
